Special Issue on
Financial Innovations and Financial Inclusion
Call for Papers

Financial Innovations and Financial Inclusion is an academic field centered on the creation, development, and adoption of novel financial products, technologies, and services aimed at making financial services more accessible to underserved and unbanked populations. It explores mechanisms to reduce barriers, improve access to capital, and foster economic empowerment. Innovations such as mobile banking, digital payment platforms, and microfinance are pivotal in extending financial services to include more people, thus promoting greater economic participation and reducing poverty.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Financial Innovations and Financial Inclusion. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Economic models of innovation
- Innovation and economic growth
