

Special Issue on Business Finance and Investment

Call for Papers

Business finance and investment is a field of study that focuses on the financial aspects of managing a business, including funding, budgeting, and investment strategies. It explores how businesses can acquire and allocate financial resources effectively to maximize profits and achieve long-term growth. This academic topic delves into various financial tools and techniques used to make informed investment decisions and manage financial risks. It also examines the relationship between business finance, investments, and the overall economic landscape.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Business Finance and Investment. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Investment theory, quantitative methods and practice
- Investment and banking
- Trade, taxation and investment
- Foreign direct investment
- Global public investment
- Investment management and innovations
- Sustainability
- Corporate finance and financial decision-making
- Financial markets and institutions
- Investment analysis and portfolio management
- International finance and global context
- Financial risk management
- human behavior and finance
- Entrepreneurial finance
- Financial modeling and quantitative methods

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.
