

Special Issue on Economics of Social Issues

Call for Papers

"Economics of Social Issues" examines the intersection of economics with societal problems such as poverty, inequality, healthcare, education, and environmental sustainability. It delves into how economic theories, policies, and institutions affect these issues and explores potential solutions. This field emphasizes the role of economics in shaping social outcomes and aims to provide insights for addressing complex social challenges through economic analysis and policy interventions.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Economics of Social Issues. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Socio-economic planning and policy
- Behavioral economics and social issues
- Poverty and income inequality
- Healthcare economics
- Education economics
- Environmental economics
- Urban economics
- Gender economics
- Labor economics
- Happiness and welfare economics
- Development economics
- Political economy
- Cultural economics
- Ethics and economics
- Social and economic values
- Economics of family and household
- Economics of social mobility
- Economics of social capital

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Economics of Social Issues” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	June 18th, 2024
Publication Date	August 2024

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

OJBM Editorial Office
ojbm@scirp.org