

Special Issue on Foreign Languages and Literatures

Call for Papers

Foreign Languages and Literatures is the study of languages, literatures, and cultures different from one's own. It examines communication, literature, and culture across linguistic and cultural boundaries. It focuses on the analysis, interpretation, and translation of language and literature, as well as the social, historical, and cultural contexts of foreign languages. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Foreign Languages and Literatures.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Foreign Languages and Literatures. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- American Indian and literature
- American sign language
- Ancient languages and literatures
- Asian languages and literatures
- English language and arts
- French language and literature
- German language and literature
- Japanese language and literature
- Korean language and literature
- Russian language and literature
- Spanish language and literature
- Intercultural communication
- Comparative literature
- Dialectology
- Critical discourse analysis

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Foreign Languages and Literatures” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 18th, 2023
Publication Date	December 2023

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ojml@scirp.org.