Special Issue on Natural Philosophy and Philosophies

Call for Papers

Natural philosophy mainly considers the philosophical problems faced by humans in the natural world. It includes the relationship between nature and man and the most basic laws of nature. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Natural Philosophy and Philosophies.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Natural Philosophy and Philosophies. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Epistemology of science
- Computing and philosophy
- Philosophy and history of science and logic
- Naturalism
- Natural theology
- Metaphysics
- Ontology

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Natural Philosophy and Philosophies” should be selected during your submission.
