

Special Issue on Psychology and Cognitive Sciences

Call for Papers

Psychology and cognitive sciences study the mental processes such as "attention, language use, memory, perception, problem solving, creativity, and thinking". It has been integrated into various other modern disciplines of psychological study, including educational psychology, social psychology, personality psychology, abnormal psychology, developmental psychology, and economics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Psychology and Cognitive Sciences. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cognitive and learning science
- Cognitive neuroscience and mental process
- Cognitive development
- Cognitive performance and mood
- Cognitive impairment and disability
- Cognitive behavioral therapy
- Cognitive style and behavior
- Attention and memory process
- Language acquisition and development
- Memory, cognition and learning
- Metacognition
- Personality and cognitive research
- Attention problems study
- Decision making analysis
- Applications in education
- Alexithymia

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Psychology and Cognitive Sciences” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	February 19th, 2021
---------------------	---------------------

Publication Date

April 2021

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org