

Special Issue on Depression, Anxiety and Mental Health Outcomes

Call for Papers

The academic topic "Depression, Anxiety and Mental Health Outcomes" delves into the complex interactions between depression and anxiety, analyzing their significant impact on overall mental health and well-being. This topic explores the various factors that contribute to these conditions, the mechanisms that underlie their development, and how they influence individual outcomes in terms of mental health status and quality of life.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Depression, Anxiety and Mental Health Outcomes. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Assessment & psychometrics
- Psychological treatment and psychotherapy
- Prevention and early intervention
- Cognitive theories of depression
- Cognitive-behavioral therapy
- Cognitive impairment
- Depression, anxiety and emotional disorders
- PTSD
- Suicide ideation and prevention
- Personality and depression
- Relationship between anxiety and depression
- Depression in children and adolescents
- Cultural, social, and contextual factors
- Gender and sex differences
- Resilience factors and well-being
- Psychosocial factors
- Quality of life and functional outcomes

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field "Special Issue – Depression, Anxiety and Mental Health Outcomes" should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	July 3rd, 2024
Publication Date	September 2024

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org