Special Issue on Accounting and Financial Management

Call for Papers

Accounting and Financial Management is a scholarly discipline that merges accounting practices with financial strategies to facilitate decision-making, planning, and control in business. It involves the systematic recording, analyzing, and reporting of financial transactions to ensure accurate financial statements. This field also delves into budgeting, forecasting, and managing organizational funds to maximize efficiency and profitability. It equips students and professionals with the analytical and managerial skills necessary to navigate the financial aspects of businesses, ensuring compliance with legal standards and fostering strategic planning for sustainable growth.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Accounting and Financial Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Financial accounting and reporting
- Managerial accounting
- Accounting and finance
- Auditing
- Tax accounting
